IN THE SCHOOLS

Must Be Another Teacher for the Night Sessions.

REPORT FROM MR. GIBSON

A Professor on Trial—Referred—Mo-
lokal Teacher Settles Himself.
Changes—Transfer.

Minister Cooper, Inspector General
Townsend, Professor W. D. Alexander,
Chas. L. Hopkins, Mrs. E. W. Jordan
and Secretary Rodgers were present at a special meeting of the Commissioners
of Education held from 2:30 to 4:30
yesterday afternoon.

Upon recommendation of the Teachers' Committee, Miss Gurney was appointed assistant in the Bereitania
street school. Miss Weir was transferred from Kamaokapi to Kaulawela school, and Miss Kathleen King
was appointed assistant in Kamaokapi
school.

The matter of Professor Hiltz, teacher
in drawing in the city schools, was brought up and discussed at length. It appears that the Department has received complaints that the instructor
is derelict in his work, failing at times
to visit schools under his charge to organize classes in them. There was considerable stir among teachers over the affair. Mr. Hiltz was suspended last Friday. In the meanwhile a letter
made its appearance, which will be used by the Department. At the meeting the matter was referred to the Teachers' Committee and Mr. von Holt.

Mr. Lightfoot reported the attendance upon the night school to be greater than ever before. The services of an extra teacher were badly needed. Miss Diets, who recently arrived from Sonoma county, Cal., was appointed to the position.

Minister Cooper reported the arrival
of Miss Egan, the new instructor for the Practice School. She was chosen in California by Professor Dresser.

Mr. Oglesby was appointed assistant in the school at Ulupekua, Maui.
Mr. Sturgeon, the new man appointed to Kamaokapi, was, soon after reaching that place, offered a much better position by Manager P. McLean
on the Molokai plantation. The Commissioners granted Mr. Sturgeon's application for release and appointed his wife principal of the school.

A long report from Normal Instructor T. H. Gibson on the condition of the schools of North Kona was read. Lin-hart's, Cockett's, Holualoa, Kailua and Keahou were found in excellent shape. It was recommended that the Kihoua school be closed for the reason
that only thirteen pupils attended it
and it was badly located.

Mr. Gibson recommended that the school vacation in Kona be from August to October in place of from July to September, so that the children might
be at home during the coffee picking season. This was favored by the Commissioners and may be done.

The Hiltz case was again taken up and discussed at length. An application for the position of drawing teacher
from a Sydney gentleman, now visiting Honolulu, was read. At 4:30 the whole matter was deferred for further investigation.

SPANISH PRIESTS ARE IN FLIGHT.

Eight of Them From Manila Tell Sad Tales.

There are eight Spanish priests on their way to Venezuela to begin labors anew.
They do not know a word of English,
and are therefore not interesting con-
versationists in this part of the world. Through an interpreter one of them made this statement:

"We are Catholic priests and were sent to Manila from Spain. Our work
was in the country districts of Luzon.
Soon after the Spanish fleet was sunk
the insurgents wrecked our schools,
robbed and despoiled our mission
churches and drove us into Manila.
About fifty priests were killed by them
in the most brutal manner. Twenty-four were of our own order, the others
being, for the most part, French and Belgians. As our whole work was laid waste, we decided to leave the Philippines and were finally permitted to do so by the head of our order in Spain.

"No, we are not the only ones to flee
from Manila. A number of other priests, some Spanish and others from various countries of Europe, left about the same time for their homes or to new fields. We left just before the city surrendered, went to Macao and thence to Hongkong.

"Let us impress one thing. We did not flee from the Americans. On the contrary we know that our churches
and interests would have fared well
under the laws of the United States.
It was merely the discouragement of seeing the work of years destroyed by the men we had gone to teach, and the
improbability of cementing feeling and
being able to build up again among them.

"Many people of Manila and Luzon
welcome the Stars and Stripes. All,
even to those most embittered by the war, prefer American to insurgent rule. The latter would be simply suicidal to Christianity and all business pursuits. We anticipate that the insurgents will make serious trouble before matters settle down. It is estimated that there are 50,000 of them in striking distance of Manila."

Soon after reaching Honolulu the priests were met by Bishop Gulstan
and escorted to the Mission. There
they were cordially received by the fathers.

Death of Mr. Fujii.

Attorney General Smith is informed
in a private letter from Japan that Mr. Fujii, who was consul general to this country for several years, died on the 26th of September. He was ill one month, of a carbuncle, which developed many complications. The funeral was held from the Fujii home ninety miles
north of Tokio.

Mr. Fujii was here during all of 1893
and did excellent service for his Government. He was a man of experience
in public life and entertained much.
Mr. Fujii made many friends here.

Upon returning from Hawaii to his native country Mr. Fujii was placed at the head of the Commercial Bureau of the Foreign Office and had control of immense amounts of consular business.

IN UPPER COURTS

Decisions From Supreme
and Circuit Benches.

A Cane Land Case—Administrator
Matters—Steamer City of Columbia—A Waikiki Lot.

The Supreme Court has filed a decision in the case of Charles Notley and sons vs. the Kukaiaua Plantation Co., action of debt for rent alleged to be due, overruling
plaintiff's exceptions to the ruling of Circuit Judge Perry. The land
in question is 840 acres situated in Hamakua, Hawaii. It is held by the Court, in opposition to one point of exception, that the boundaries of the land
demised are sufficiently certain and definite and include all the land within the bounds. The evidence that portions of it are not "suitable for the cultivation of sugar cane" does not show a latent ambiguity. Hartwell for plaintiffs; Kinney & Ballou for defendant.

Judge Stanley is the author of a decision in the assumpsit matter of Ma-ka Puakuni vs. David Dayton, administrator of the estate of Alexander Moore, deceased, giving judgment in the sum of $1,380. It appears that plaintiff was engaged by Moore, then invalued, in October, 1893, as his housekeeper at $30 per month. She served as such until July 31, 1897, during which time, however, no part of the salary was paid. George A.
Davis for plaintiff; Paul Neumann for defendant.

George A. Davis, proctor and advocate
for Rose Berliner in her damage
suit against the steamer Columbia,
has noted an appeal from the decision
of Judge Perry to the Supreme Court
upon question of "civil and maritime
law and fact and generally."

Judge Perry yesterday signed a decree ordering the Marshal to sell the steamer Columbia at public auction to satisfy the judgment found for Rusel Colegrove. Appeals filed, however,
will of course stay these proceedings.

John K. Prendergast has been appointed administrator of the estate of Kalewale Pearson under $250 bonds.
Mr. Humphreys, representing the petitioner, appealed from the decision and appointment to the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court yesterday filed a decision in the ejectment matter of C.
W. Root vs. G. C. Beckley and others,
his tenants overruling exceptions, and appeal of plaintiff. This is a victory for defendants. The property involved is about one and a half acres at Wal-kiki. Magoon, Stillman and McClanahan for plaintiff; Kinney & Ballou
for defendants.

Judge Perry has ordered that the bond of Akoi and J. H. Baranaba, $200, conditioned upon proper performance
of the former of duties as guardian of Laahia be put in suit for the use and benefit of C. Lal Young, guardian of Laahia.

MAHDI'S HEAD.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The Daily Telegraph's Cairo correspondent says. It is reported that Maj. MacDonald has reached Lado, where was located the Mahdi's tomb, and the body was destroyed. An enthusiast, it is said, secured the Mahdi's
head, and is sending it to the Royal College of Surgeons in London. The correspondent adds that Maj. Marchand's position
is absurd, and that the natives ignore him.

GERMANY'S ATTITUDE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The officials of the War Department pronounce to be without foundation in fact the alarmist
stories coming from sources in San Francisco to the effect that Germany had shown any disposition to arm the Philippine insurgents with a view to inciting
them to harass the American Admiral at Manila.

YELLOW FEVER.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 24.—The yellow fever epidemic is slowly marching onward. New Orleans chronicled its first death today, and two more people were taken down with the disease there.

A MANILA PAPER

'The American Soldier' Has Been Received Here.

FROM A SPANISH OFFICE

Publishers Handicapped—Some Notes From First Issue—Perrine—Lover of Hawaii.

Volume I, No. 1, of The American Soldier, the pioneer English newspaper
of Manila, has been received and is interesting in every way. It is edited by Geo. A. Smith and will come from the presses of a Spanish print shop once a week. It is sold for five cents a copy.
Subscriptions will not be received.
Advertisements are of Spanish, English and American houses. The type has the Spanish "N" and the odd, foreign quotation marks.

Col. C. McC. Reeve has been promoted to the rank of Brigadier General. He is remembered here as commander of the crack Thirteenth Minnesota. The paper has a letter list and an installment of Spanish phrase book.
Here are extracts from The American Soldier, which in the town of Manila
alone has a constituency of 15,000
American soldiers:

Don't blame the proof reader, nor
the writer for all the errors in grammar or orthography. The type is set up by native Philipinos, and it would have taken a proof reader with a dozen
pairs of eyes to have discovered the errors they have made.

Our readers will notice that Escalta
street is about the only one mentioned
by our advertisers. For the benefit of those who are unacquainted in the city we will say that Escalta is the main street in the city. In New Manila.
The numbers are easily found. Give them a call.

Private Perrine, from Hawaii, has found another 280-lb. shell which he has added to his collection. The latter now embraces one shell and one 150-
lb. cannonball found in the south fort,
a portion of the foundation of the demolished Spanish arsenal, four ma-
chietes.

Food is improving and we have been issued hammocks to sleep in. It is only natural that the wheels of office should turn slowly at first, considering all the disadvantages encountered. The "Kickers" will have to bide their time
and all will be satisfactorily arranged.

HAWAII.

Ha-wa-ii! Ha-wa-ii!
Thy shores shall woo my feet—
Thy cradle of desire,
Of sun-kissed fruits and flowers
Of beauty, love, and fire;
Of emerald depths and shallows,
Of coral reefs and caves,
Ha-wa-ii! Ha-wa-ii!
Thou genius of the waves.

I love thee! I love thee!
The weary soul would rest,
As wrapped in blissful slumbers,
Upon thy tender breast;
As wooed by thy fair maidens,
As clasped by thy warm arms,
I love thee! I love thee!
Thou wonder of earth's charms.

Ha-wa-ii! Ha-wa-ii!
Thy name shall henceforth be
The one sweet bond of friendship,
And charm of hope to me;
Thy hills shall fill my visions,
Thy shores shall woo my feet—
Ha-wa-ii! Ha-wa-ii!
My life's long wished retreat.
—Valentine Stewart.

SISTINE MADONNA.

Prof. Brigham Speaks on Raphael,
the Master.

The life and labors of Raphael San-
zio was the subject of Professor William T. Brigham's lecture yesterday morning before the students of Oahu College. The professor pictured the Italy of Raphael's day and gave a description of Urbino, the birthplace of the great master. He sketched at length the life of Raphael, dwelling on
the painter's peculiarly unselfish character. The masterpieces were described, particularly the Sistine Madonna, the portrait of Pope Julius II, and the Transfiguration. In speaking of the Madonnas, a loyal tribute was paid to woman. The Madonna supplies to the faithful Catholic what is sometimes felt to be lacking among Protestants, motherhood in Christianity, the craving that led Theodore Parker to pray, "Our Father and Mother, who are in Heaven."

Long in Service.

Miss Scott, an American lady who has been a missionary in Africa under the auspices of the Episcopal church
for thirty-four years, was a visitor in Honolulu yesterday. She will continue on her way to the States by the
S. S. Doric this morning. Miss Scott is accompanied by a young African girl who is to be educated in America. The girl is intelligent looking and neat in her European clothing. Miss Scott has found her work agreeable and has met with considerable success. She has had many adventures and many trials,

but has been happy and satisfied
through it all. Miss Scott yesterday called at St. Andrew's Priory and was shown through the place.

First Regiment Officers.

Col. Fisher presided at a meeting of the Board of Officers of the First Regiment, N. G. H., held at headquarters last evening. The proposal of a couple of the American Comedy company players to manage a minstrel show for the regiment was rejected. A committee was appointed to arrange the ball
to be given in honor of officers in the American commands. The committee-
men are: Maj. Jones, Capt. Pratt, Capt.
Ashley, Capt. Smith, Lieut. Petrie. The
party will be given in a few weeks. It was recommended by the Board that
any officer going on the retired list
be permitted to retain his uniform and
side arms.

Judge Hitchcock Better.

Sheriff Andrews wrote by the Kinau
that Judge Hitchcock was better Saturday morning. Friday his chances of recovery were considered doubtful. Inflammation of the bowels is the trouble. Mrs.
Smith, a daughter, and Ed. Hitchcock have joined their father at Kaula. As soon as the sick man can be removed he will be taken back to Hilo.

A PARTING GIFT

Gazette Co. Employees
and C. G. Ballentyne.

Token of Esteem to Retiring Manager—The Relations Have Been Pleasant—Speeches.

About forty of the fifty odd employees of the Hawaiian Gazette Company gathered in the large room of the job offices at 4 o'clock yesterday
afternoon and then called from the front part of the establishment Mr. C.
G. Ballentyne, the retiring manager,
who had been summoned on "a business
matter."

It was a presentation occasion. The employees who had been under the direction of Mr. Ballentyne for three years did not feel that they could permit him to depart without giving him
a token of their regard and a remembrance of the pleasant relations
which had uniformly existed between
the manager and the force.

The spokesman was Editor W. N.
Armstrong, who was happy and earnest in his remarks to Mr. Ballentyne.
Mr. Armstrong expressed neatly and completely just what it was desired by
all to say to the retiring manager.
This was that the employees to an individual had grown to like Mr. Ballentyne, had always been treated fairly and justly by him and regretted his departure.

At this stage the covering over a package was removed and there was
shown a glittering silver water service
from Wichman's, with appropriate
monogram. Hasting against the pitcher
was a framed address printed on white satin.

Mr. Ballentyne was not expecting anything of the sort, but responded promptly. He said his policy had been
to select the employees with care, to choose persons he believed capable and
worthy of confidence, that he believed
he left just such a force, all of whom
he could recommend to his successor,
Mr. Pearson. The relations between the manager and the employees had always been pleasant and Mr. Ballentyne said he would always remember with pleasure not only the day of the presentation, but the whole three years of his active service for the company in
co-operation with all the employees.

Three cheers were given heartily for
Mr. Ballentyne and there was an exchange of congratulations.

TRAM AND SOLDIERS.

There is a Rate But It Has Red
Tape Feature.

Mr. Paine, manager of the Tram
Company, was asked yesterday if no
rate was made for the soldiers encamped on Diamond Head and in the park.

The New Muster, the soldier paper,
had published a vigorous protest over
the fact that men were compelled to pay full fare as this hardship has not been experienced anywhere else.
Mr. Paine said he supposed that about all of the men were paying full
fare, but that it was their own fault.
He had received a letter from Col.
Ruhlein, quartermaster, on the subject
and had responded at once that the rate should be fifteen cents for the round trip from the Waikiki terminus instead of twenty cents. Tickets had been prepared, but the only persons
who had called for them were a few officers.

The tickets are sold in numbers of
not less than twenty, so that unless
pay authorities make some arrangement for the men they will not get the reduction. Only the millionaires some in the ranks of the enlisted men would
have enough money twenty minutes
after pay time to buy twenty tickets at fifteen cents each and besides not all of the men would want twenty tickets.
The hope has been freely expressed
that the company make a simple system that would permit the men to get
the benefit of the small reduction.

FOR LITTLE ONES

Annual Meeting of the Free Kindergarten Society.

AN ACCOUNT OF WORK DONE

Reports From Officers and Departments—The Finances—Some Detail—The Future.

(From Saturday's Advertiser.)

The annual meeting of the Free Kindergarten and Children's Aid Association was held in the Y. M. C. A. hall
at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs.
C. M. Hyde presided and Miss Eldredge officiated as secretary. About 200 Kindergarten workers and persons interested in the enterprise were present.
Reports were read and several made
remarks on the work in their respective departments. Mrs. Harriet Castle Coleman, financial secretary, submitted the following:

"Fifty-seven hundred and eighty-six
dollars, in round numbers, have been collected by the financial secretary and
handed over to the treasurer since last October.

"The sources from which this
amount has been gathered may be approximately shown by reference to the pledge list which stands today much as follows:

|--|------------|
| From business men of Hono- lulu and Kaula..... | $2,116.90 |
| Yearly pledges from the wo- men of the Association and others..... | 1,176.00 |
| Monthly contributors through- out the little envelopes..... | 297.00 |
| From our Japanese contribu- tors..... | 253.00 |
| From the Bishop Annuit..... | 600.00 |
| From interest on S. N. Castle Memorial Fund..... | 600.00 |
| Interest on deposit in Postal Savings Bank..... | 20.00 |
| Thirty Annual Membership fees..... | 90.00 |
| Rent of fruit stall on Queen Emma Hall premises..... | 48.00 |

Total from sources of a permanent nature—say.....$5,200.00

From sundry other incidental
sources, such as Miss Alexander's supplementary collection list, donations, old pledges, etc.....$ 586.00

$5,786.00

"At the close of our last year's report the pledge list footed about $3,- 700. Our estimated expenses for the year 1898, were about $5,500. This showing called for the raising of $1,- 800 from some quarter. Our effort in this direction has been to secure definite pledges, and we have much cause
for gratitude in the cordial response
to this that we have met from many of our contributors as we also have
for all the help that has been given to us in many ways during the past year.
It is principally by the cordial cooperation of our subscribers that the pledge list has been increased from $5,200 where it stands today, and we take this opportunity to extend to all
who have done so much for the work
our most heartfelt thanks.

The treasurer's report shows
the expense for the past
year to have been—say.....$5,632.00
Our estimate at the beginning of the year for this was.....5,500.00

"Actual" expenditure being about $132.00 over the estimate. Such a result in a growing work is more often
experienced than otherwise and shows
the need of providing more rather than
less than an estimate calls for.

"Next year we look for the following
outlay:

|---|------------|
| Salary of trainer and supervi- sor or six directors..... | $3,950.00 |
| Salary one paid assistant..... | 100.00 |
| Rent of Queen Emma Hall..... | 600.00 |
| Janitor of Queen Emma Hall..... | 180.00 |
| Other janitors' fees—say..... | 200.00 |
| Material for six Kindergar- tens—say..... | 200.00 |
| Sanitary work—say..... | 200.00 |
| Incidentals—say..... | 270.00 |

Total amount of estimate, $5,700.00

"Even if we do not exceed this estimate it is plainly seen that the amount
at present pledged, i. e. $5,200 will not cover the looked for expenses. There is still work ahead—there always is in work that is worth doing. It grows
in spite of us, and we cannot do less than to grow with it. But we can only go forward as fast as public sentiment will allow. It is important then that each of us should do all in our power to show to everyone whom we may influence how great a work this is that we are trying to do. Every year's experience emphasizes it.

"If we ourselves and all of our friends and acquaintances will but realize the full meaning of the inspired words 'There is that scattereth and increaseth yet more; there is that withholdeth more than is meet but it tendeth only to want,' we shall have
money enough for all the ever increasing calls to labor in a harvest that is more than ripe. Remember good

BASE BALL ROW

Chance for Good Game Spoiled By Warm Disputes.

BOTH SIDES WERE STUBBORN

Audience Left in Disgust—One Player Missed—Umpires Kept Busy—Award Made.

Saturday's base ball game was a disappointment, to say the least. A large audience was thoroughly disgusted and the players themselves were not pleased with the results. Like the negro dance it started in a row, ran with a row and ended in a row. The trouble seemed to be in a spirit of "let all we can" on the part of both sides. In this the town men were prominent and the New Yorkers were equally bad. From first to last not a concession was made by either side. Both captains were unyielding, and close points had to be settled with an iron heel by the umpires.

It was a fine day for ball—just a bit cloudy with a refreshing north breeze blowing. George Angus was selected by the town team as umpire. He was fair to a fault, and so was abused by both sides. Arthur Helme, of the First New York, represented the visitors. C. L. Clement and a man from camp were official scorers. There was quite a large audience in the grand stand, most of whom were soldiers and sailors. First New York band furnished music.

The "Wela Ka Hilo," or town, team went to the field with Toyo Jackson in the box and J. B. Gorman catch. Willis held first, Moore second, Bower third and Davis was short stop. Kiley was on right field, Wilder center and Pryce left. At the end of the fifth inning Lemon was substituted for Jackson in the box. Lishman was busy and did not appear in the game.

Hendrickson, catcher and champion sprinter of the New Yorkers, was first to bat and patted a two-bagger to left, giving all the fielders something to do. Knight, first baseman, struck for a single and brought Hendrickson home. Knight attempted to steal second but was caught by Moore; Fox, left fielder, lifted a fly to Kiley, and Shea, second baseman, hit a pop-up to Willis, retiring the side. Bower took the bat for the towns, and had the appearance of being about to make a homer, but he didn't. Collins, the left-handed pitcher of the New York team, was too much for him and he died easy under the bat. Bower was safe enough, but did not run and was hissed by the whole grand stand. Moore reached first on a dead ball and second on a balk of the pitcher. Davis hit for a single and scored Moore; Davis was caught napping at second, retiring the side.

In the second inning Collins, the little New York pitcher, hit for a single and on a passed ball at the plate scored; Kearns fanned out; Wilson took first on a passed ball, but was thrown out at second; Wall stole the plate; Carrik got first on balls and Hendrickson hit for one; Carrik made an unsuccessful effort to steal third; Gorman, of the towns, fanned out and Pryce flew out to first. Willis hit for a single and reached home on a passed ball by the catcher; Kiley fanned out.

In the third inning Fox lifted a pretty followed up; Shea and Collins were struck out and Wall flew out to Kiley. The towns could do no better. Jackson, Bower and Wilder were all retired at first.

In the fourth Kearns fanned out; Wilson reached first on a muffed ball; Kiley; Carrik fanned out and Hendrickson flew out to Willis. Moore, of the towns, took first on balls; Davis flew out to Willis; Gorman hit for a single and Moore scored; Pryce and Willis fanned out.

In the fifth inning Knight, Shea and Collins went to first on balls; Knight scored on a passed ball by Gorman and Shea on a miss by Bower; Fox, died at first; Wall fanned out and Kearns flew out to Willis. Kiley, Jackson and Wilder struck for a base each for the home team; Kiley was thrown out in a brave attempt to steal the plate; Bower fanned out and Moore was retired at first.

In the sixth inning Lemon sent Wilson, Shea and Collins to first on balls; Hendrickson, Knight, Fox and Wall recorded safe hits; Wilson, Knight and Hendrickson scored; Carrik flew out to Willis; Fox was out at home; and Kearns flew out to Moore. For the towns Davis went to first on balls; Gorman flew out to Wall and Davis was caught off first; Pryce got first on a muffed ball; Collins; Willis struck out.

In the seventh inning Wilson was retired at first; Carrik flew out to Lemon and Hendrickson flew out to Davis. For the towns Kiley batted a two-bagger, but was caught in attempting to reach third; Lemon and Bower hit for one bag each; Wilder fanned out; Moore got a single and Lemon scored.

At this juncture the ball was thrown in, struck someone, and glanced off into the field. Davis, the batter, ran, and the catcher claimed a dead ball. The town men claimed a blocked ball and all three runners scored. There the big racket started. It was known that the ball claimed that it previously struck Davis, the batter, while the towns contended that Davis was not hit. Davis denied that he was struck by the ball, but could not explain why he ran the bases. After considerable trouble seemed imminent at several times, the umpire decided in favor of a blocked ball and ordered the team to try. The New Yorkers refused, and after given time, the game was awarded to the towns by a score of 9 to 0. This was the actual score recorded:

New Line Steamers.

News in a private letter from San Francisco is important concerning the new Polynesia Steamship line. This is the enterprise in which the Cramps are to be heavily interested, as new boats for the service are to come from their yards. One line in this ocean will be from San Francisco to Manila via Honolulu. It is now proposed to begin operations at once. The San Francisco advice is that three ships known here as transports will appear as liners for the Polynesia company. These are the Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana. Each ship has an ice machine and cold storage, and could handle large quantities of beef or other perishable goods.

Gov. Hogg's Report.

Ex-Governor James S. Hogg of Texas, who has just returned to the Coast from Honolulu says real estate boomers are very numerous here, and are beginning to reach out to other places in the Islands, though the residents are opposed to it. "Prices have jumped up so that they have quadrupled, or at least doubled," said the ex-governor. "That happened, as was to have been expected, as soon as annexation was a certainty, but there wasn't much that changed hands. Now the town lot boomer is there, and the wild era

we saw a few years ago at San Diego will probably be repeated, force being added as other boomers come in out of the cold of the north this winter. The people there are opposed to it, but they can't help it. Honolulu is really an ideal place to boom. Some time in the future, when the Nicaragua canal is completed, the sails of ships will whiten the Pacific and there will be a dozen cities of importance there. Hilo, Pearl Harbor and Honolulu will all be good places, and there will be a number of smaller ones also, which no doubt will become quite prominent."

Action of Citizens.

A number of the citizens of a Prospect street neighborhood, becoming weary of the condition of a portion of the thoroughfare on Hackfeld street, have lately proceeded to make a sidewalk along the premises of a non-resident property owner. Appeal was made to the Government and the agents for the place, but without result. The citizens took matters in their own hands for the benefit of themselves and their children and the general public.

Decisions in City of Columbia Libel Cases.

Steamship People Win Twice and Lose Once—Appeal—Award of $1,000 Damages.

In the matter of Russel Colegrove vs. the Steamship City of Columbia, damages in the sum of $15,000, Judge Perry yesterday signed a decision vindicating the plaintiff, Russel Colegrove, in the libel and awarding him $1,000 and Court costs. The decision goes fully into the case, from the evidence, and the Court adds: "I do find upon the evidence that the captain, in handcuffing him in the chain locker, acted with a reckless disregard of the rights of the libellant." Libellant has appealed from this decision for a greater award. It is claimed that the sum of $15,000 is not too much for the injury done. Kinney & Ballou for libellant; Hatch and Cayless for respondent.

A second decision was filed by the same Judge in the matter of B. H. Colegrove vs. Steamship City of Columbia, $2,000 damages for breach of contract, dismissing the libel for the principal reason that that the contract alleged to have been signed at Tacoma did not create a lien upon the vessel. G. A. Davis for libellant; Hatch and Cayless for respondent.

A third decision by the same Judge was in the case of Rose Berliner vs. the Columbia, damages for $5,000, in which the Court says: "Libellant's claim is, in my opinion, entirely without merit. The libel is dismissed and the attachment issued therein is dissolved." Davis for libellant; Hatch and Cayless for respondent.

WORK UNDER DECREE.

Message From Chinese Throne on Missionaries.

WASHINGTON.—Minister Conger at Peking transmits to the State Department the interpretation of an important decree issued by the Government, which emphasizes the treaty provisions authorizing the promulgation of the Christian religion and forcibly reiterates instructions to the authorities in the various provinces to see to it that proper protection is accorded to missionaries, and enjoins on local officers to receive missionaries when they call upon them.

Such an order, coming from the throne, has never before been promulgated. It will serve a good purpose, for missionaries will now be able to make representations direct to the officials concerning their work or their difficulties and time, trouble and expense will thereby be saved. The decree says, in closing:

As to the cases still remaining unsettled, let such action be taken as is necessary to bring them to a settlement without loss of time and as in future will prevent missionary troubles again occurring. Should there be any lack of energy shown in taking precautionary measures to prevent trouble the delinquent officials will be severely punished, in accordance with the new rules framed and submitted to us by the Yamen of Foreign Affairs. The Tartar Generals, Viceroy and Governors also will not be allowed in such cases to shift the responsibility imposed on them.

Camphor Trees.

At yesterday's session of the Commissioners of Agriculture it was voted to cultivate a large number of camphor trees on the Government reservations. Camphor trees do well here. There is one on the Executive building grounds. Mr. Haugs reported to the Board that he had sold eighteen cords of wood in having land cleared on Tantalus. A request from the Hospital Flower Society for a plot of ground was received and referred to the Minister of Interior. Those who attended the meeting were Minister King, Messrs. Herbert, Taylor and Clark.

He was a man of wondrous power. He made a fortune in an hour. But ere he'd time to tell the joke The tickler ticked; and he was broke.

THE YOUNG MEN

Rev. W. M. Kincaid Makes an Address to Them.

Value and Opportunities—Worth of Society—Reports of Y. M. C. A. Officers—Departments.

A couple of hundred people enjoyed the quarterly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. last evening. Besides the reading of reports a literary and musical program was put on. President Weedon conducted the meeting. He was assisted by General Secretary Coleman and Associate Secretary Brock.

After stating the purposes of the gathering Mr. Weedon called upon Dr. Ormie Wall for a violin solo. Miss Allie Wall officiated as accompanist. The effort proved so successful that a repeat was demanded by the audience and given.

Mr. Coleman next read the quarterly report of the treasurer, Charles H. Atherton. The principal items in it were as follows:

From last statement, $243.
Loaned general fund, $205.
Balance, $38.

BUILDING FUND.

Balance on hand, $117.25.

P. H. Dodge presented the report of the Devotional Committee. This was a statement of the meetings held in the hall, at the prison, at the camps and the work on ships in port, with numbers present, etc. The camp attendance had averaged 66.

Mr. Coleman read the report of the Educational Committee. It outlined fully the organization of the classes, with numbers in each, and the work to be attempted during the next quarter. Mr. Sydney H. Morse was introduced and sang in fine voice "My Sweetheart When a Boy."

A. W. Pearson read the report of the Physical Committee. It detailed the formation of the gymnasium classes. At the conclusion of the reading Mr. Pearson invited business men and young men to join the two classes started. In Mr. Brock the Association had secured the right man. The future of the gymnasium was most promising, and it deserved all the support possible of the members.

Mr. Frazier's mandolin solo was very pretty and well received.

Rev. Wm. M. Kincaid delivered the address of the evening. His topic was "The Value of a Young Man to Society." Disraeli said the work of the world was done by young men; Ruskin said art was the work of youth. In every crisis of nations young men have been at the front. Joshua sent young men to Jericho. Saul was young; David became King at 31; Solomon's fame began at 16; the apostles of John the Baptist were all young men; Christ was young. Rome, Athens and Sparta owed their power and their ruin to young men.

The speaker followed up his illustrations down to modern times, and then observed that under the American flag there were splendid opportunities for young men. A young American was what he chose to be. His condition was not dependent upon birth. With this independence, however, was stern responsibility as well. The great moral ideas of the United States were placed in the hands of the young men. It devolved upon them to bring about the adaptations of American moral principles and of the Gospel. In Honolulu there were many young men in proportion to population. There were shields to wrong doing here that imperilled them. A great deal of sinfulness goes on behind closed doors, and thus secrecy encourages and abets it. A factor in politics and business, the young man exerted a great influence upon society. The habits of the young men of Honolulu and those coming here would be felt.

A General Gargo.

The schooner Aloha, now in port and consigned to H. Hackfeld & Co., brought this general cargo: 1,550 bbls. flour, 264 cs. paints and oils, 2,094 cts. barley, 1,675 gals. wine, 42 pkgs. groceries and provisions, 990 bbls. lime, 410 bales hay, 10 pkgs. machinery, 11,468 lbs. bread, 10,447 lbs. sugar, 137 cts. wheat, 460 bxs. soap, 277,817 lbs. rolled barley, 346 cts. corn, 160 sks. middlings, 7 cs. manufactured tobacco, 9,450 lbs. lard, 16 bales dry goods, 109,900 lbs. sulphur, 34 cts. oats, 7,550 lbs. meal, 97 cs. canned goods, 12 mules, 590 bbls. cement, 6,672 lbs. beans, 2,529 lbs. cracked corn, 89 bales salt, 25 bbls. salmon, 50,000 lbs. potatoes.

Saloon Restrictions.

F. M. Hatch, attorney for W. C. Peacock & Co., appeared before a part of the Cabinet yesterday morning to submit argument against the proposed restrictions on saloon licenses. President Dole, Minister Damon, Attorney General Smith and Minister King were present. In the absence of Minister Cooper, who was still detained on the bench of the Supreme Court, a formal hearing was deferred until Monday. In an informal manner the question of the restrictions was discussed.

Do you want Consumption?

We are sure you do not. Nobody wants it. But it comes to many thousands every year. It comes to those who have had coughs and colds until the throat is raw, and the lining membrane of the lungs is inflamed. Stop your cough when it first appears, and you remove the great danger of future trouble.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

stops coughs of all kinds. It does so because it is a soothing and healing remedy of great power. This makes it the greatest preventive to consumption. It is not a question of many bottles and large doses. A few drops will often make a complete cure. Don't neglect your cough; you cannot afford to run the risk. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will soothe your raw throat and quiet your inflamed lungs.

Beware of cheap imitations. See that the name Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is blown in the glass of each bottle. Put up in large and small bottles.

OUR REPUTATION

For fine watch work is widespread; but we wish to impress the few who may not get in line, with the necessity of sending their watches, when out of order to us directly; and not first allow every linker to ruin the watch, after which, send it to us for proper repairs.

The Cost is always more to you, after such treatment; ever so much better to send it right down to us, for we allow nothing but perfect work to leave our workshop.

You will be surprised, too, how much cheaper it will be, and how much more satisfactory to you.

Watches are securely packed in wooden boxes, and returned in the safest possible manner.

A MOONLIT LANAI

Description of a Company Dinner
at Waikiki.

AN OCCASION TO INSPIRE

Host and Hostess—The Guests.
Manner of Contriving a Gathering—Only in Hawaii.

"Ah, my friend, I am so glad to see you," said the hostess as she swept gracefully forward and slipped one small hand confidently into that of a good looking young fellow with U. S. V. in gold letters on his collar.

The thin, stilet, texture of her gown flowed behind her as she walked, its fulness suggesting the delicate material of the fairy tale, yashiki of which could be slipped through a wedding ring—and fell in clinging folds, when she paused, against garments as soft and sheer and full as itself.

"I'm glad to be here," said the young volunteer with a lazy laugh and a slight drawl. "I need relaxation."

His easy position, however, did not convey the idea of stress of work or tension of nerves. He turned, as he spoke, to receive the warm hand grasp and cordial greeting of his host.

"Oh! that husband of mine!" groaned the hostess. "Dear, do you know that your cravat is under one ear?"

The look accompanying her tone of despair over her husband was one of pure pride in him.

"Beware of matrimony!" said the host with his happy laugh; and the young volunteer said the warning came too late.

His hostess groaned once more. "Oh, these strangers that we take in without a question!" She sighed.

"How do you know what your past has been? We married, still it is said that when you were thrown from your horse, the other day, your first audacious exclamation referred to your wife and little ones."

"What could be more praiseworthy?" rejoined the young fellow. "It wasn't as if there was anybody within hearing distance."

"My!" said the hostess, and her exclamation held a hint of severity. She turned towards the lanai. "Do you know all these good people?" she asked with a gesture in the direction of a group of her guests. "Come, let me introduce you."

She moved forward followed by the volunteer, and her husband.

"Ah!" said the young volunteer, pausing as he advanced within full view of the lanai, and the moonlight waves that rolled up to its very edge.

His tone was full of a feeling more potent than any compliment.

The lanai's smooth floor stretched broad and long under its projecting roof, to the sea and within a few feet of its outer edge round, white pillars, supporting the roof at intervals marked the beginning of an uncovered portion which was bathed in the soft light of the moon. Through the low, open railing enclosing the lanai, the water could be seen as it shone and heaved and lightly rolled, and further out the waves rippled and danced, and still further they gently broke into tiny, lazy white caps showing up in snowy contrast to the leaden hollows and depths. Where the waters sank, before the soft breeze playing over them tossed them up to reflect the silvery splendor of the full moon's rays. Against the subdued, grey tints of the sky the feathery little clouds rested like white down, and the moon sailed slowly on, slipping under the shelter of one, shining through the transparent ceiling of another to beam forth with renewed brilliancy when, slipping away from the tiny clouds, too small to detain her long, she reached the stretch of sky beyond. Far, far out, way along at the fathomless horizon, the waves like silvery lava heaved and rolled and followed each other, chased in to shore by the trade breezes that reached the lanai in soft, balmy gusts.

The Waianae mountains in the distance, and then the line of hills with the valleys lying below, the twinkling lights in the harbor, the cocoanut trees along the shore, the laughing voices, coming faintly from a distance, of some natives in moonlight bathing were all part of the charm of this lanai at Waikiki.

The guests were just a little quiet as their gaze wandered over sea and land, and then back to each other and around the open lanai with its dining table in one corner, laden with handsome silver and glass and festive with faintly colored roses and delicate green maiden hair. Five or six tall, slender lamps with dainty shades through which glowed rays that might rival the moon for purity and brilliancy and would certainly put to shame the electric light, were placed in and out amidst the flowers. Through the wide door way beyond the table, was the enclosed lanai that led through porticoes to the rest of the house. Magnificent, branching palms, their glossy, dark green leaves reaching almost to the ceiling showed richly against the cream tinted walls; a few odd chairs, a handsome screen, and tables that were a study in rare woods, with an exquisite bronze or two and a home touch lent by flowers, books, and photographs, all lit up by lamps, whose artistic shading were delightful to the eye, could be seen through the broad opening.

"Ah! wela mai nei loko
E ka hana a ke aloha
E kalawe nei kuu kino
Koni-koni lua i ka puuwa'i."

Sang the native boys, seated in one corner over the sea.

"Come," said the hostess again to the volunteer, and they moved forward to join the guests who were out of the almost limit of the lanai, some seated on the broad top of the railing, some standing and others in comfortable, easy chairs. They all greeted the volunteer with the various degrees of warmth, or lack of it, peculiar to their temperaments, training, or acquired social manner.

The host and hostess had brought together a congenial party of friends. There was the man with white hair and fresh complexion who wore glasses and whom nobody ever dreamt of chasing with the old people because of the youth that dwelt within him, bubbling spirits, his hearty, whole souled manner and his unaffected interest in people and events.

Then there was the handsome girl of Hawaiian birth who did not pretend to see the advantages of annexation, but who had none the less a keen appreciation for the American army officer, and not only for the less for his gallant brothers of the navy. And there was the conventional American society girl, young, pretty, and not over proud of being a kamaaina because she had been that long enough and sighed for larger worlds to conquer. She had a low, sweet voice and a way of glancing up through her eye lashes that was effective; also she could place a flower in her hair with a delightful result possible only to one brought up amongst them.

The only other woman, besides the hostess, was the young matron whose political convictions were, though not popular, so ably expressed that the matter was often obscured by the manner. Her husband being absent on one of the other islands, she had been bidden to the feast to supply an element that might offset the qualities—all the more marked because a trifle crude—of the girls. A young man, a college graduate, but with his student days far enough behind him to have traveled—and lived—a good talker, with a fund of humor and a reputation for being funny which he was, when lazy, apt to deplore, was there, as his hostess had informed him, to live up to his reputation. A couple of army officers completed the party, for the hostess living at Waikiki in their midst was of course, bound to stand in with the army. One was a man of rank, and had a name apart from his career as a soldier and he was courted by the women. The combination of brass buttons and celebrity, enough of an attraction in themselves was added to and completed by a manner towards their sex which had a deference that conveyed a subtle compliment. The other was a man made for dinner having an appreciation for the good things of life and, besides, a laugh that was ready, jolly and an incentive calculated to stir up one's best conversational efforts.

Six men and four women. But the hostess always had a suspicion and she believed in a discrepancy of numbers—on the right side—and at least her women guests never failed to approve her methods. Cocktails were passed around by a well footed attendant and a few moments afterwards the party was seated at the table.

The hostess had placed the army man of rank on one side of her and the college graduate at her left. The maid of Hawaii was between the army man of rank and the soldier with the jolly laugh. The young matron was between the college graduate and the volunteer; next to him was the pretty American girl, and then the host. On the other side of the host was the grey haired gentleman, and this brought three men together, but the grey haired gentleman was the only one without any girl at all and he didn't care, particularly as he was relating a sentence in his mind into a sublimity so rare that its true significance could only appear to those who read between the lines next day.

The conversation flowed from the beginning, and the wine also, for everything was lavish on this lanai at Waikiki. The volunteer talked a great deal to the American girl and the gist of his remarks was not over soothing, for he spoke of her sex as types and he said he preferred them dusky. This was too impersonal for any girl.

The college graduate was elucidating a theory of his about a system of education for women, in which they should be trained to light talk and graceful accomplishments. Instead of wasting the fleeting hours of youth in algebra, history and the usual school routine. The young matron, who felt that she had a mind, waxed indignant at what she called a "Japanese geisha destiny" for all women.

The maid of Hawaii was interesting to the two army men between whom she was seated for they had never met a girl quite like her.

The army man of rank studied her and the scenery and everybody was glad to see his evident interest and they wondered what her role he would choose from the islands. The grey haired gentleman put a period to the sentence over which he was puzzling after introducing a comma with five effect, and he proceeded to indulge in delightful flights of fancy about an imaginary, ideal, cottage at Waikiki. This afforded great amusement to his host whose ideas for cottages at the beach were turned into palaces in the inspiration of their drawing.

The native boys in the back ground sang their plaintive airs and occasionally a hula of infectious gaiety. Their soft, sweet voices seemed to melt on the balmy air and to blend with the whisper of the waters and the sighing of the breezes.

"Ah," said the young matron whose sympathy, though not her parentage, was Hawaiian. "Hawaii is gone! My country will never be the same again."

"My country lies in thee," murmured the college graduate somewhat irreverently, and his thought wandered to his last best girl in the last country he had visited. The maid of Hawaii said nothing, but her expressive brown eyes held depths of pathos as they gazed far away over the moonlit scene beyond the lanai. The three army men reflected that Hawaii was good enough for them as American territory and a whole lot better than Manila anyway. The American girl surprised herself with a thought of patriotism as she remembered that the last of her ancestors was at last with the land of her forefathers. And the hostess sighed and murmured pensively of evolution and the survival of the fittest.

"Do you get your meat of the Metropolitan Meat Market?" asked the volunteer with some animation. "I need points."

But the hostess could not drop down to meat. She rose and pushed back her chair. "We will have coffee in the moonlight," she said, as she led the way out by the railing.

Under the starry sky and the clear light of the moon, with the gentle lapping of the surf and the murmuring caresses of the wind, as it played with the little ripples, one seemed to be out on the deck of a ship—a sort of fairy dream that gave one all the delightful effect of sea and sky, without any of the usual disadvantages.

"No pen could portray a moonlight dinner on a lanai at Waikiki," said the army man of rank with an emphasis that pleased his host and hostess. "Imagine putting moonlight into language!" said the army man with his jolly laugh. "It would take a Frenchman," said the volunteer with a feeling that showed a predilection for French novels.

"I'll have it done!" exclaimed the grey haired gentleman.

"Have it done?" echoed a chorus.

"Certainly," said the grey haired gentleman. "Will you do it?" he added turning to the army man of rank, who promptly and modestly pleaded incapability. "Will you?" he asked his hostess whose negative answer was positive enough to admit of no argument. "Very well then; I have notions who dare not say me nay," continued the gentleman. "Perhaps they haven't the touch of genius, but they have sentences all prepared for emergency calls and they have been trained to string them together. I will go to my office and leave my order. One moonlight dinner on a lanai at Waikiki!"

And so it was done.

BEEF SITUATION.

States Concerns Have Eye on the Local Market.

It is seven instead of six cents as said yesterday, that the graziers are to have from the Metropolitan Meat Company for their best heaviest. The advance is one cent. G. J. Walter, manager for the Metropolitan, says again that for the present there will be no advance to the consumer. He suggests that people who aver that short weight is given should watch the scales or weigh on their own account. The Metropolitan, he says, by the way, has obtained for a long time that there was nothing in their retail department and that they would just as soon lose it. The trouble is that there is no market for the rough pieces.

The Western Meat Company (Swift & Co.) and other concerns in the States have their eye on this market and will likely go into business here when the refrigerator ships of the Polynesia company are put on.

To Test Old.

To distinguish butter from oleomargarine, according to Professor Taylor, of the Department of Agriculture, have on hand a small vial of sulphuric acid, using a glass stopper for safety. A few drops combined with butter will turn it first a whitish yellow and in ten minutes a brick red. If oleomargarine is treated in the same way it first becomes of a clear amber and in twenty minutes turns to a deep crimson. Use a small glass rod when making the experiment and also compare the results by using both articles at the same time.

It Was Loaded.

Corp. Casserly, of the Tenth Pennsylvania Regiment, Company D, while climbing to the summit of Diamond head, discovered the barrel of a rifle standing in the ground. On pulling it out it proved to be a Winchester rifle. The breech and chamber had been buried in the ground. It contained eleven shots. On pulling the trigger one shot was discharged. The rifle has probably laid there since the insurrection of January 6, 1895.

A RABBI DISCUSSES.

An Important Question and Offers Some Valuable Opinions.

Rabbi L. Liebman, of 115 South Fourth Street, Hamilton, O., is well known in that city, in the countries bordering on Indiana, those abutting on the Ohio river, as far west as Scioto and as far north as Springfield. However much a follower of the redoubtable Colonel Ingalls might dispute the pulpiter utterances of the reverend gentleman he would go back on the teachings of agnosticism if he refuses to believe the evidence of his senses. The Rabbi challenges investigation and will be only too pleased to corroborate what is here made public, by correspondence or a personal interview. Now read what he says: "I have not been very much troubled with my kidneys further than having an attack of lumbago or backache or lameness in the lumbar region. I had also dizziness and headache when my back was troubling me so much. I can usually tell when these attacks of the kidneys are coming on by a peculiar feeling in my eyes. I was in intense pain when I procured Doan's Backache Kidney Pills, but I did not take very many before I was completely relieved of the whole of it. I am quite freed from the ache in my back and the lameness. They acted so promptly I am confident they are a good kidney medicine. From my experience I would not hesitate to recommend them and I have no objection to your referring to me as one who can vouch for them."

"Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents per box, or 10 boxes for $4.50, by all druggists or will be forwarded by mail to any address on receipt of price by The Hoffman Drug Co., 220, Hamilton, agents for the Islands."

We were just out of Tropic Oil when the "Island" arrived with a small lot to keep us going till December. We have two hundred and twenty-five barrels on the way now, which will arrive at different times between December and March and we do not propose to run short of Tropic stock the coming sugar season if we can help it. That it is a good oil and satisfactory is shown by the great increase in demand each season.

We have testimonials from many of the best known engineers in these islands, but if you have not tried the oil a barrel of each will convince you quicker than any number of letters can.

Tropic is made to sell, but it is also made to use and we are not afraid to have it tested. Your money back if a trial barrel don't prove a good oil. Tropic for sale by the gallon, or barrel, at

GOES TO KOHALA

Judge Stanley Called to Preside for Sick Man.

Sheriff Andrews Settles Claim Case—Capt. Milnor Wants Bond Fixed—Land Matter.

(From Monday's Daily.) Judge Stanley will sail tomorrow for Kohala to open and conduct the October term in place of Judge E. G. Hitchcock, who is again very ill. Judge Stanley has just returned from a short vacation spent on the big island.

In the matter of C. S. Bradford vs. Sheriff L. A. Andrews, damages, defendant has discontinued his appeal and satisfaction of judgment has been filed. The jury awarded $50 in this case. Neumann for plaintiff, Ives for defendant.

On petition of plaintiff in the equity matter of Keokali vs. Kalina and W. R. Castle, Judge Perry has enjoined defendant Castle from foreclosing a certain mortgage given by Kalina on 10.33 acres of land at Hana until the ownership of the property is proved.

Judge Perry heard argument Saturday morning on petition of Capt. Milnor that a bond for release of the steamer Columbia be fixed. In view of the fact that appeals have already been filed, the matter of bond was referred to the Supreme Court. The petition will likely come before the higher tribunal today.

L. L. McCandless vs. John H. estate, bill for injunction, took up all the time of the Supreme Court on Saturday. Lawyer Davis has filed plaintiff's brief in the case of Henry Zerbe vs. Republic of Hawaii, claim.

SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION.

Movement to Extend and Improve Lesson Work.

A meeting of Sunday school superintendents, teachers and all interested in the work is to be held at 4:30 next Friday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. building. The purpose is to effect an organization of the forces now working independently. The following church branches have already expressed the intention of entering the movement: Central Union, Christian, Methodist, Kawaiahao, Kamaekapili, Portuguese Protestant.

This will be the beginning of a campaign with the end in view of arousing Sunday school enthusiasm, so that in time there may come of the big rallies that are so famous and so beneficial in the United States. At the meeting there will be taken steps to devise means for more thorough teaching in the schools, for better use of the lesson methods and illustrations furnished. It is believed that there will be improved both efficiency and interest and that the co-operation will be general.

NO CHANGE NOW

New Policy of Cabinet on Liquor Licenses.

A Regulation Will Be Put Forth in Time—The Exact Proposals.

Wine and Beer.

For the present there will be no change in the stipulations of licenses issued to saloon keepers authorized to deal in all kinds of liquors. The terms of the light wine and beer dispensers will be as provided in the bill passed by the last Legislature. At the meeting of the Cabinet yesterday morning there were present Messrs. Hatch and Thurston as attorneys and J. G. Rothwell, of W. B. Peacock & Co. It was finally agreed by the Cabinet that any change to be made in saloon regulations would be general and would not occur as licenses expired. A set of rules will be agreed upon and being promulgated will have the same effect as statute. This was the new clause proposed for the retail license: "That the sales of liquor be carried on only in one room, fronting on the street on which the saloon is situated and that the entrances to the saloon shall be on such street, without any obstructions or screens or doors of any kind whatever during business hours; and that there shall be no side or back doors for the use of customers." It is stated by a member of the Cabinet that as the dealers in light wines and beer are to be restricted in the conduct of their establishments, as provided in the new act, it was deemed fair and wise to extend the regulations to take in all dealers. There has been exaggeration in describing the proposed reform. The above quotation is the requirement in full.

WHARF AND WAVE.

The collier Harvester has finished discharging.

The barkentine Archer has finished discharging.

The bark Mauna Ala is unloading at Irmgard wharf.

The bark H. F. Glade has moved to Brewer's wharf.

The collier Helen Denny is discharging at Emmes' wharf.

The brigantine W. G. Irwin is loading sugar at Oceanic wharf.

Electric lights have been placed on both Kinau and Lakeike wharves.

The schooner Maewema is discharging at Allen & Robinson's wharf.

Mort Tuit, the popular purser of the Mauna Ala, is again in town after a week's outing on Hawaii.

The bark Paul Isenberg in ballast to Portland, Oregon, left Saturday, loads again thence to Bremen.

The coal pile marks of the pilot house and mark of the Government coal sheds is assuming big proportions.

The steamer Noeau's trip to Hanalei was postponed yesterday. She will leave this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The steamer Hawaii will go to Lahaina this afternoon, thence to Kona, where she will load cattle from Greenwell's ranch.

The harbor is fast filling up. There are now twenty-seven deep water sailing craft in port besides one steamer and a man-o-war.

The steamer Kinau had 62 deck passengers and the Claudine 75 deck passengers from Hawaii and Maui respectively on Saturday night last.

As yet, notwithstanding the absence of Col. von Hagen from the waterfront, all steamers are still running on schedule time.

The steamer Hawaii is expected from Hilo next Thursday. She is now lightening freight to Papaikou for the bark Rodrick Dru, now discharging in Hilo harbor.

The schooner Concord, coming in through the channel at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Kaula, ran aground on "Molokai point" and was towed off by the tug Eleu.

Two Hawaiian barks arrived during the past forty-eight hours with smart cargoes from San Francisco to their credit. The Mauna Ala came in last Saturday morning after making Makapuu Point the night before in about ten and a half days, and the R. P. Rithet docked at Brewer's wharf yesterday morning about twelve days from the Golden Gate. Both vessels bring full cargoes of general merchandise and the bark R. P. Rithet had 25 passengers.

The bark Albert and brigantine W. G. Irwin have sailed with small cargoes for San Francisco during the past week. The W. G. Irwin's cargo consisted of 2,847 bags sugar, 356,000 pounds, valued at $13,500 and shipped for account of Hutchinson Mills by W. G. Irwin & Co. The bark Albert took to the San Francisco refinery: 10,155 bags sugar, shipped by H. Hackfeld and M. S. Grinbaum & Co. and 120 bags coffee by H. Hackfeld & Co. Value $17,555.

The following vessels sail today for island ports: Steamer Kinau, Clarke, for Lahaina, Maalea, Kihel, Makana, Kawaihau, Mahukona, Hakalau, Honolulu, Orono, Papaikou and Hilo; for Kaula and Laupahoehoe, mail and passengers only, at 10 a. m. Steamer Claudine, Cameron, for Lahaina, Kihulu, Keanae, Hana, Hamoa, Kipahulu and Paanahua, 5 p. m. Steamer Mauna Ala, Simerson, for Lahaina, Maalea, Kona and Kau, 10 a. m. Steamer W. G. Hall, Haglund, for Nawiliwili, Hanalei, Koloa, Elele, and Hanalei, 5 p. m. Steamer Mikahala, Thompson, for Makaweli, Waimea and Kekaha, 4 p. m. Steamer Kaula, Bruhn, for Lahaina, at 4 p. m. Steamer Doric, Smith, for San Francisco, at 8 a. m. Steamer Noeau, Pederson, for Kilauea, Kihlwhai and Hanalei, at 4 p. m.

By the Government Survey, Published Every Monday.

By communicating with the Branch Hydrographic Office in San Francisco, captains of vessels who will co-operate with the Hydrographic Office by recording the meteorological observations suggested by the office, can have forwarded to them at any desired port, and free of expense, the monthly pilot charts of the North Pacific Ocean and the latest information regarding the dangers to navigation in the waters which they frequent.

Mariners are requested to report to the office dangers discovered, or any other information which can be utilized for correcting charts or sailing directions, or in the publication of the pilot charts of the North Pacific.

NO CHANGE NOW

New Policy of Cabinet on Liquor Licenses.

A Regulation Will Be Put Forth in Time—The Exact Proposals.

Wine and Beer.

For the present there will be no change in the stipulations of licenses issued to saloon keepers authorized to deal in all kinds of liquors. The terms of the light wine and beer dispensers will be as provided in the bill passed by the last Legislature. At the meeting of the Cabinet yesterday morning there were present Messrs. Hatch and Thurston as attorneys and J. G. Rothwell, of W. B. Peacock & Co. It was finally agreed by the Cabinet that any change to be made in saloon regulations would be general and would not occur as licenses expired. A set of rules will be agreed upon and being promulgated will have the same effect as statute. This was the new clause proposed for the retail license: "That the sales of liquor be carried on only in one room, fronting on the street on which the saloon is situated and that the entrances to the saloon shall be on such street, without any obstructions or screens or doors of any kind whatever during business hours; and that there shall be no side or back doors for the use of customers." It is stated by a member of the Cabinet that as the dealers in light wines and beer are to be restricted in the conduct of their establishments, as provided in the new act, it was deemed fair and wise to extend the regulations to take in all dealers. There has been exaggeration in describing the proposed reform. The above quotation is the requirement in full.
